"I was at Police Headquarters late ast night." he said, "and we were then naking every effort to locate him. A sarge number of men had been sent out to look for him, but when I left there no news had been received." It is said that private detectives have also been put on the track of the missing witness. We when Mr. Nicoll arrived at 10.30 her looked anxious and worried as he sat a. d the table and held a whispered converso sation with Mr. McClave. He had heard to nothing from Granger, he said, and it dbegan to look as though his prediction that the young man would never again in appear before the Committee as a witness would be verified.

which was crowded with spectators, just as it had been yesterday.

The two letters, printed in "The World" to-day, written by Granger in April, 189, to his friend Charles B. Lapham, of Canandaigua, N. Y., regarding the appointment of McDonald to the police force, for whom Lapham said he furnished the money, were generally accepted as confirming the testimony of Granger given last Monday in this particular.

Before opening the proceedings Chairman Lexow announced that if the audience applauded or made any demonstrates.

Before opening the proceedings Chairman Lexow announced that if the audience applauded or made any demonstration such as was frequent at yesterday's hearing the room would at once the cleared. There was also a short conference between the counsel present and the Committee.

Lawyer Sutherland was on hand again with Mr. Grasse, his associate, but neither took any part in the proceedings. The coolness existing between the Rochester lawyer and the present counsel of the Committee, as well as the Chairman himself, was again made manifest. He sat at the counsel's table however, and watched Mr. Goff closely, occasionally joking with Mr. Nicoli, who sat just across, when the Chairman asked Mr. Goff if he was ready to proceed, the latter, without making any reference to the

"Positively yes."
After some further questioning, the witness with great deliberation, and with much feeling, said:
"I want to state right here, Mr. Goff, and in the most solemn manner that any human being can state it, that I am not in any way a party to keeping Granger away from here, and I will say now that nothing would give me greater satisfaction than to be able to put him right here in this witness chair again."
This brought the questioning by Mr. Goff on this line to a close, and he asked Mr. McClave for his bank books, which the witness produced from his linside pocket.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 23.—Over 3,000 people assembled at Central Park last night to witness a wrestling match between Sandow, the "Perfect Man," and Col, Daniel E. Boone's tame lion Commodore. Commodore was muzaled, his paws being incased in big boxing gloves, and he was so handicapped that free action on his part was almost impossible. When Sandow entered the iron cage the lion was lying on all fours, and no amount of teasing could get him to stand up or lose his temper. Sandow lifted him from the ground and swung him around and around, but it was of no avail. After ten minutes of this farce the match was given to Sandow.

John H. Bird, the counsel of Bradstreet's, was called as a witness at this point, Mr. McClave yielding the stand.

Mr. Bird produced a copy of a statement made by Mr. McClave to Bradstreet's in 1883, in his own handwriting, in which Mr. McClave claimed that he was worth $146,225.50.

For 1884 the record showed that Mr. McClave estimated his wealth at "close to $150,000;" but the Company rated him at only $100,000. There was no detailed statement. The following amendments and over-

A person who knows Granger well said to an "Evening World" reporter this morning that he could not believe it was the threat of arrest or prosecution on criminal charges had kept him away. He had seen Granger on the day he testified against his father-in-law, and he had never seen him more determined. He was not afraid of any-saing.

It has since been learned that Granger was followed from the Court-House by several officers in citizens' dress, and he himself afterwards told the counsel of the Committee that he was being shad owed by three men.
